Tory Cowles: Weavings & Musings Opens at Touchstone Gallery
August 31 - October 1, 2023

Washington, DC—Touchstone Gallery announces a new solo exhibition by Tory Cowles. Weavings & Musings features pieces that weave together diverse materials to make new identities, and often incorporate woven fabrics that mirror the larger weavings.

Cowles states “they have evolved organically and with joy. While musing about my place in our complex and confusing world, I find solace in acting positively in very local and concrete ways, specifically in the direct control I have over my work.”

Tory Cowles' paintings and sculptures are shown widely in the mid-Atlantic region. She is currently an abstract painting instructor at the Yellow Barn in Glen Echo Park, Maryland. She has a background as a carpenter, woodworker, and stonewall builder. Cowles' most recent solo exhibition at Touchstone Gallery was Hard Wired (2019).

A reception will be held on Saturday, September 9 from 4-7 pm. The exhibition will be on view through October 1, 2023.

Gallery Hours:

Wednesday through Sunday 12 - 5 pm.
Closed Monday & Tuesday.
